

DACC (Doctors Against Cervical Cancer) 2010 International AWARD

APPLICATIONS GUIDE

DACC (Doctors Against Cervical Cancer) is a branch of the WACC (Women Against Cervical Cancer) Foundation. DACC has set up an International Award of € 5,000 which will be allocated on February 18, 2010 at the WACC Forum in Monte-Carlo. This prize will reward a medical educational project on cervical cancer prevention run by professionals (individual or group of physicians, medical institution or organization) for the benefit women.

The project submitted may consist of an educational initiative, a validated report or any other action aimed at promoting women's education, awareness and knowledge on HPV infection and cervical cancer prevention.

Submission of applications

The presentation of your project shall include:

- 1) A presentation of the applicant including elements such as
 - ✓ Localisation
 - ✓ Mission and scope of work
 - ✓ Status, teams, resources and financing
- 2) The specific campaign documents describing the project, including the following information:
 - ✓ Goals and intentions
 - ✓ Situation analysis
 - ✓ Focused targets
 - ✓ Programme of actions and distribution of information
 - ✓ Tools used
 - ✓ Budget estimation
 - ✓ Measured outreach and qualitative outcome
 - ✓ Key learning on success and difficulties
- 3) A half page summary description with contact person

The jury will take in account the following criteria:

- Women's education on the disease
- Fieldwork with concrete actions
- Global approach of prevention
- Tangible results of impact
- Priority will be given to projects which can easily be transferred to other contexts or countries
- Possibility to evaluate the project
- Impact on local and/or political level

Candidate projects are to be submitted in due time via email only to contact@wacc-network.org copy to carole.schaal@wacc-network.org

Deadline: December 15th 2009.

The DACC International Award is open to all physicians (as individuals or groups of physicians), medical organisations or institutions committed to improving patient education on cervical cancer prevention.

Presentation of applications: The project must be presented in English language.

The campaign tools using national languages other than English may simply have a short presentation in English summarizing the object, messages and purposes.

The document used for the presentation shall be presented in a PDF format, or Word format or Power Point format.

Images and videos are encouraged (videos accessible on web link is best for jury members to view).

The jury of the 2010 DACC Award will be composed of the WACC international taskforce members and the EUROGIN Executive Board.

The winning project will be selected from a shortlist of nominees between January 4th to February 5th, 2010.

The selected nominees will then be asked to prepare a 4-to-6 slides show to be presented at the 2010 WACC Forum in Monaco on February 18th.

The final winner will be informed at the third WACC Network meeting in Monaco on February 18th 2010. 50 % of the award will be allocated following the announcement of the winner (this prize will be handed over at the WACC Charity Gala dinner in Monaco). The other 50 % will be allocated after completion of the winning project and receipt of the report.

Contact : contact@wacc-network.org or carole.schaal@wacc-network.org

www.wacc-network.org